Early Auto Tag Rush Mystery

DRIVERS LINE UP outside Fayette County Auto Club to obtain their new 1951 license plates. (Record-Herald photo)

An unprecedented rush for new 1951 blue and white automobile license plates has hit the Fayette County Auto Club office at 124 South Main Street.

Howard Allen, deputy registrar, reported Monday morning that he has added eight additional persons to help issue the new plates, and he planned to put on another worker Monday afternoon.

Asked why there is such a rush during the first part of the period instead of during the week or so before the deadline March 31, Allen replied:

"People seem to have money now."

He said they are lining up outside the auto club office before it opens in the morning and want to buy the plates in the evening even though the office is closed.

"Just be patient," Allen urged drivers.

He pointed out that they have until midnight March 31 before they are liable to pay penalties for not having the plates on their cars.

With drivers crowding into the office here in large numbers it is difficult to handle them without delays. When the rush eases, it will be possible for the enlarged office force to take care of the drivers better, he explained.

Ordinarily, efforts are made to induce the drivers to come in early and avoid the late rush. This year, however, the situation has almost reversed itself.

Allen reminded all drivers who come in for their license plates to bring the titles to their cars with them.

Czech Official Flees To England, Report

BOMBAY, India, March 5—(AP)—Purge-ridden Communist Czechoslovakia's ambassador to India, Bohuslav G. Kratochvil, was reported today to have fled to England. His embassy condemned his flight as a "betrayal of his country."

Formerly ambassador to London, Kratochvil was appointed to his last post in 1949 by the then Foreign Minister Vlado Clementis. The two were described as good friends. The Czechs last week announced the arrest of Clementis for alleged plotting against the regime.

The Czechoslovak embassy, in New Delhi, said the ambassador with his wife and infant son, "after having been summoned to Prague for consultation, x x x abandoned the embassy without informing the members of his staff." The embassy statement termed the action "his resignation from his official post."

Dividend Coming On War I Policies

WASHINGTON, March 5—(AP)—A $16,000,000 insurance dividend will be paid to holders of about 440,000 World War One policies, the Veterans Administration announced yesterday.

The dividend, representing surplus over death payments and reserves, will boost to about $255,000,000 the total insurance dividend paid to veterans of the First World War.

Some veterans hold more than one policy, so the number benefiting will not total 440,000.

American Casualties

WASHINGTON, March 5—(AP)—The Defense Department today identified 385 additional casualties of the war in Korea. The 242nd list issued since the start of hostilities named 85 killed, 261 wounded, five missing in action and 34 injured in accidents.

Sec'y. Acheson Gives His Version

Why Are Yanks Fighting in Korea?

WASHINGTON, March 5—(AP)—State department officials hoped today Secretary of State Acheson's letter for an embittered marine corporal who saw no reason to fight in Korea would have an effect far beyond the conversion of Corp. John B. Moullette.

Recognition that the Truman administration's policies are widely criticized throughout the country and sometimes assailed as bitterly as Moullette himself attacked them, apparently was one of the things that prompted Acheson to write the letter.

The letter sent to Acheson last Jan. 19 by Clarence E. Moullette, an assistant to the mayor of Camden, N. J. Moullette asked Acheson for help in replying to a letter sent by his 24-year-old son, John, a marine corporal, from Camp Pendleton, Calif.

The essence of the complaint from "Johnnie" to his dad was that he and the men around him "have no cause to fight". He couldn't see why the United

Mobilization Is Slowed Down By Balky Labor

Another Pay Hike For Auto Workers Now in Prospect

DETROIT, Mar. 5—(AP)—A million automobile industry workers soon should have five cents an hour added to their pay checks.

A series of quick agreements pegging the boost to the rising cost of living was expected today in the wake of a new General Motors Corp. pact with the CIO United Auto Workers.

There has been some debate as to whether a new quarterly report on the cost of living—issued by the government Bureau of Labor Statistics—would give UAW members four or five cents more per hour.

Pay boosts are provided through "escalator" clauses in LAW contracts with GM, the Ford Motor Co., Chrysler Corp. and other auto industry firms. The question as to amount came because the government bureau put out two separate reports.

Then, once the "big three" take action, other industry manufacturers are expected to follow suit.

MOBILIZATION THREAT

WASHINGTON, Mar. 5—(AP)—New broadsides which could widen the gap between organized labor and defense mobilization officials were under consideration of

Road Repair Work Slowed Governor Told

COLUMBUS, March 5—(AP)—Gov. Frank J. Lausche today asked the state highway department to exert every effort to repair damage to highways.

After a conference with Highway Director T. J. Kauer, the governor said:

"I urged that they use every bit of effort to proceed to repair the highways to the end that the danger spots be removed."

"I have re-emphasized through him the need for adhering to a moratorium on the building of highways except where construction is necessary and essential, the purpose being to make manpower and materials available for the defense effort."

The governor also said Kauer told him contractors who have in past years now are unable to construct highways for Ohio by reinforcing steel used in road construction.

The contractors, said Kauer, suspect steel companies are building up large backlogs in hopes of getting higher prices later.

"If that is being done," said the governor, "in respect to steel, meats or anything else, it ought to be stopped."

Motorboat Skipper True to Tradition

SEGUIN, Tex., March 5—(AP)—Walter T. Steves captained only a motorboat on an inland Texas lake but he died in the best tradition of the sea.

The 52-year-old boat-ride concession operator passed out life-preservers to six teen-age passengers from Gonzales and went down with his tiny craft.

Firemen recovered his body yesterday afternoon, some 17 hours after the boat struck an underwater stump and sank Saturday night at Lake McQueeney near here.

NCR Is Expanding

DAYTON, March 5—(AP)—The National Cash Register Co. today said it will build a $4,000,000 plant in South Dayton. The new plant, to be used exclusively for defense production, is expected to be finished by Dec. 31.

Grim Picture of Korea War Bared As Yanks Retake 'Massacre Valley'

By JOHN RANDOLPH

HOENGSONG, Korea, March 5—(AP)—Time and the retreating Reds have fully disclosed one of the bitter stories of the Korean war -- the battling march of half an American regiment through "Massacre Valley."

Of 2,400 men at Changbong and Saemal, scarcely half got back to Wonju as unwounded survivors. The exact number of killed still is not known but is estimated at about 300. Many more are missing.

Back at the grisly scene, which they recaptured, shocked and sympathetic marines put up a crudely painted sign "Massacre Valley."

The bodies have been removed, but all along the road on both sides are the helmets of the dead American soldiers and the furling caps of South Koreans and Chinese.

It is astonishing how many there are.

A French war correspondent looked and shook his head.

"In France," he said, "where we have had many battles we have expression for this.

"It is 'trop de chapeaux -- too many hats'."

The full scope of the defeat northwest of this ruined central Korean town was clouded at the time by the dramatic siege of Chipyong and the great artillery battle that finally broke the Chinese offensive west of Wonju.

It was obscured also by the same bleeding U. S. second division regiment's fight after the retreat from Hoengsong to save Wonju itself--when the survivors of the

Color Television Review Granted

CBS-RAC Tug-of-war Headed for Courts

WASHINGTON, March 5—(AP)—The supreme court today agreed to review government approval of Columbia Broadcasting System color television.

The approval by the Federal Communications Commission was attacked by the Radio Corporation of America. RCA's competing TV color system was rejected by the FCC when it gave a go-ahead to the CBS color plan.

The supreme court set March 26 for arguments on the long-standing dispute.

In its order today accepting the RCA appeal the high tribunal also let stand a temporary court against the starting of CBS color telecasts while the case is in litigation.

The order blocked such telecasts before next April 1. It was issued by a special three-judge U. S. District Court in Chicago last December 22. The special court at that time, however, upheld by a 2 to 1 vote the FCC's approval of CBS' mechanical method of color telecasting.

Governor Orders 'Sick Leave' Check

COLUMBUS, March 5—(AP)—Gov. Frank J. Lausche today ordered an inquiry into possible abuse of sick leaves granted state employees.

"The accumulation of sick leaves is occurring with such frequency," said Governor Lausche, "that we feel that money could be saved if we hired a doctor to go out and check the employees reporting ill."

The governor indicated the apparent abuses are concentrated in the highway department.

Governor Lausche said he had asked Highway Director T. J. Kauer to ask the attorney general for an opinion on the rights of the department.

Red Mutiny on Ship

BOMBAY, India, March 5—(AP)—One man was reported killed and several other wounded yesterday during a battle between Communist and Nationalist Chinese crewmen aboard the 10,172-ton Panamanian tanker wagon mound, 100 miles off the Indian coast.

Convict Who Dug Long Tunnel To Escape Caught in Holdup

BALTIMORE, March 5—(AP)—A radio jazz band blared out over the prison broadcast system. The brass music disguised the steady chink, chink, chink of a chisel against concrete.

That was 20 months ago.

Joseph Holmes, 39-year-old Maryland Negro, was on the first lap of a 70-foot tunnel to freedom, freedom that lasted only 13 days.

He was recaptured Saturday night when he tried a $5 holdup under the shadow of the Washington Monument in downtown Baltimore.

And today he'll be arraigned in city police court on "several charges connected with the wild gunfight that preceded his arrest."

No one was injured in the shooting.

Twenty months after he started digging, Holmes burst through the sod in the prison yard.

With extra clothing in a hand-sewn bag and $152 he made running a numbers game in the prison, Holmes scaled a seven foot fence and ropped into the night--and freedom.

13 days later he was behind bars again.

$2,700,000 War Order

DEFIANCE, March 5—(AP)—The Defiance Automatic Screw Company has received a $2,700,000 government order for 10,000,000 artillery shells. The company already is manufacturing artillery fuses.

Some 1,000 residents of Fayette County who attended the "open house" at the National Guard armory here Saturday and Sunday got a preview of some of the weapons which are being used so effectively against the Chinese Communists.

They saw a 4.2 heavy mortar which was borrowed from a heavy mortar company located in London and also looked over the 75 mm and 57 mm recoilless rifle, standard pieces of equipment for Company M guardsmen.

Those who toured the newly painted armory also saw the rocket launching, tank killing bazooka.

Some of the light weapons were assembled on the second floor of the armory, where they were demonstrated by Company M guardsmen. Others were set up in classrooms used by the guardsmen during their regular weekly drill periods.

Calling attention to the "open house" were several members of the honor guard who took up positions on corners in Washington C. H., Sabina, New Holland, Bloomingburg and Mt. Sterling. They wore honor guard dress and stood beside signs announcing the "open house."

Guardsmen held the "open house" for two principal purposes -- to acquaint the public with the work of the guard unit and to interest men here in enlisting in the National Guard. Efforts are being made to build the guard's strength up to 100.

Money for Funeral Donated to Family Stolen from Home

CHICAGO, March 5—(AP)—Little Jimmie Carro, not quite four years old, died Friday of a brain tumor. Neighbors knew of the trying time Jimmie's folks had during the six months he was sick, so they helped out by collecting $625 for a funeral.

The parents, James Carro, 29, an insurance salesman, and his wife, Marietta, 28, hid the money in a garment bag in a closet.

Last night they were at the funeral home, preparing for the funeral services at Our Lady of the Angels Church tomorrow.

When they returned to their home in a west side factory area they found the door tampered with--and the $625 gone.

New Defenses Set Up in Hills By Communists

Allied Offensive Moves Cautiously In Bitter Fighting

TOKYO, March 5—(AP)—U. S. infantrymen with screaming artillery support routed an estimated 6,000 North Korean Reds today from a mountain stronghold in central Korea.

The Communists' gun-bristling stronghold was hit from three sides by the U. S. Seventh Division and the U. S. Second Division with its French elements.

The Allied punch forced the Reds to flee to a hastily built new line of resistance to the north.

Col. William ("Buffalo Bill") Quinn, commander of the attack forces, said: "I'm going to destroy those xxx Reds if they don't check out farther over those hills."

The North Koreans fought sharply from well dug in positions for a short time before they broke. They were trying to buy time for building up a probable counter assault on the Allies on the central and western fronts.

The Reds were remnants of the North Korean Third Corps.

Quinn, who only two days ago led an attack which was believed to have put the North Korean 15th Division out of action, said:

Fisherman Rescued From Lake Erie Ice

PORT MAITLAND, Ont., March 5—(AP)—Four ice-battered fishing tugs fought their way into Port Dover early today, bringing to safety 17 of the 30 fishermen trapped in an ice field off this Lake Erie port since Saturday.

The crews of the four vessels planned to start out again during the morning in an attempt to buck their way back into the thick ice to rescue 13 men aboard three other boats stuck fast in ice which trapped them in a sudden shift Saturday afternoon.

The four vessels which reached Port Dover, on the north shore of the lake 30 miles west of here, had been fighting their way through the ice since 8 P. M. last night.

The men aboard the other vessels were safe, they said, with food and fuel aboard their fishing craft. The 13 men spent two nights on the tugs in an ice field being wedged in toward shore by a southeast wind.

Blind Preacher Held for Killing

COLUMBUS, March 5—(AP)—A blind, self-styled preacher was to be charged with second degree murder today in the shotgun slaying of a roomer.

Deputy sheriffs said John Williams, 59, had admitted killing Simon Barnett, 55, also a Negro, by aiming and firing a shotgun through a wall in the direction of Barnett's voice.

Barnett also called himself a preacher but deputies said neither man had a church.

Williams told deputies that when he came home about midnight Saturday he heard a man's voice in his wife's bedroom. He got a shotgun and fired through a hole in the wall in the direction from which the voice was coming, he said.

Racket Is Scented In Wonder Drugs

BOSTON, March 5—(AP)—The FBI and Boston detectives today hunted a fortune in "wonder drugs" which they feared were headed by underworld channels for the black markets of Europe.

More than $80,000 worth of aureomycin, penicillin and perihemin were stolen about two weeks ago from the Lederle Laboratory of Brighton, a branch of the American Cyanamid Company.

Plant Manager Elmer E. Seaman said the drugs would bring nearly $500,000 in European black markets.

Victim of Traffic

CINCINNATI, March 5—(AP)—Mrs. Alice Helman, 70, died in General Hospital today. She was struck by an automobile Saturday.

Big Blizzard In Northwest

(By The Associated Press)

A new blizzard which may be a "whopper" today was bearing down on the northern midwest, which still staggered from a storm which took a toll of at least 12 deaths over the week-end.

Minnesota counted 12 dead over the week-end from the last storm. These included a 12 year old newsboy killed at Canby when he was struck by a snowplow, and a Duluth girl who died who died of carbon monoxide poisoning in a stalled auto. Other deaths included traffic accidents and heart attacks brought on by battling the drifts.

There is some chance -- but only a chance -- that the intense cold of the new storms will be pushed northward into Canada before it reaches the Mississippi Valley or Great Lakes region.

Railroaders Fined For Blocking Crossing

DEFIANCE, March 5—(AP)—Engineer O. L. Souder and Conductor Fred Warfield were fined $20 each after they pleaded guilty to blocking a street for 90 minutes with their Baltimore and Ohio freight train. Both men are from Garrett, Ind.

Meanderings By Wash Fayette

"For sale six Negro slaves, two men 35 to 50, two boys 12 to 18 and two mulatto wenches 40 to 30 years old. We will sell them all together and will not separate them."

This item appeared in a bill of sale printed somewhere in this area in 1849. The bill of sale was reprinted in the Danville (presumably Ohio) Daily Journal.

A reprint of the item was brought into the office last week by W. G. Fishback of East Monroe.

Fishback also brought in a sales slip on which the sale of 40 bushels and 20 pounds of coal to the late Albert Fishback, grandfather of W. G., was recorded. The coal sale amounted to about 10 cents a bushel.

Another interesting item which Fishback had was a letter written to his grandmother, the late Mrs. Helen Borden. In the days when the letter was written stamps were not in general use. Instead of a stamp the number "25", indicating 25 cents postage, was scrawled in one corner of the folded letter. No envelope was used.

The Nation Today

WASHINGTON, March 5—(P)—Congress is getting down to cases on the problem of drafting 18-year-olds and changing the present draft law.

The Senate right now is debating a bill to do just that. The vote on it may come next week.

Meanwhile, the House armed services committee is holding hearings on a somewhat similar bill. And full House debate and vote may soon follow.

All this has been preceded by many weeks of arguments. Military leaders urged some changes in the law, particularly to let them draft the 18-ers.

Briefly, under present law, only men 19 through 25, who are non-veterans and without dependents, can be drafted for 21 months' military service.

This story will not try to touch on every detail in the bills on which both houses will vote. It will tackle only the high spots.

So what follows is a brief roundup of what the military leaders asked and what the House and Senate bills would do if they became law.

Military leaders: want all youths registered with draft boards at 17 and draftable at 18.

Senate bill: registration and draft at 18 but no 18-year-old to be drafted until his board has taken all available in the 19-25 group.

House bill: register youths at 18 but not draft them till 18½.

Military leaders: what period of service for draftees raised from 21 to 27 months.

House and Senate bills: raise period of service to 26 months.

House and Senate bills: raise period of service to 26 months.

Military leaders: they said no drafted 18-year olds would be sent into combat without six months' training.

Senate bill: all draftees must have four months' training before combat but would permit some of the training to be completed overseas.

House bill: requires four months' training for draftees before they can be sent overseas and a total of six months before going into combat.

(Both House and Senate bills agree that when a draftee has served 26 months in the armed forces he must serve another five years and 10 months in the organized reserve or National Guard).

Military leaders: they suggest there should be a permanent program of peacetime military training to give all youths four to six months of basic training at 18 when need for drafting youths has passed.

House and Senate bills: both agree this system—called Universal Military Training and Service—should be set up. Not for use now. But on a stand-by basis to be put into effect when the president and Congress no longer think there's a need for draftees.

This UMTS program would be under the control of a civilian commission appointed by the president.

There is still much dispute over this whole business. For instance, some senators think there is no need to draft 18-year olds. Objection has been raised to voting on the UMTS program now.

The House bill may be changed slightly—but only slightly—before it actually goes to the full House for debate and vote.

Of course, there'll be no new law on the subject until both houses, by ironing out their differences, later agree on a single bill. This will still take a little time.

Luxury Accommodations

VANCOUVER —(P)—Charles Weir found the thieves who took the blooms off 168 large chrysanthemums in his flower shop. Pack rats under a nearby storage room had lined their quarters with the petals. "That's too expensive a lining," he said as he called the exterminator.

Head of Legion Is a Go-getter

Learned About War In Europe Hard Way

by CHARLES BARNETT
ATLANTA — Riddled and left for dead by Nazi machine gunners a few months before, the big, brawny guy with the broad grin was coming home.

He was helped off a plane from France to join his dad and mother.

Their "How are you son?" brought the reply, "I'll be well enough to go the Legion convention this year."

That was Erle Cocke, Jr., back in 1946.

A lot of hospital operations and four years later still only 29 years old, Cocke is the youngest national commander of the American Legion in history.

His election in Los Angeles last Oct. 12 was by the biggest margin in years, one of the biggest ever.

Cocke says his goal is to sell not only veterans but all Americans on the Legion program of "peace through strength", including universal military training.

If his next year is like the others, the U. S. A. is in for a lot of legionizing.

Started as a Cripple

Cocke has been a whiz at everything he tries. His young life includes a crippled boyhood, zooming business and civic success, and a hair-raising, almost incredible World War II adventure.

He's a six-foot-two 210-pounder with a rugged countenance, bright brown eyes, wavy brown hair, hearty handshake and plenty of smooth talk. Despite his glamour and good looks he's a bachelor.

Even when he was 27, political dopesters had tagged him as a good prospect for governor of Georgia. Now some friends are really booming him. But Erle is sticking to business and the Legion, so far.

His story began in the little southwest Georgia peanut town of Dawson. The boy crippled at the age of 18 months and wore casts or braces on his left leg until he was nine. Today he wears a size 11 shoe on his left foot, size 12 on his right.

Versatile in School

Young Cocke became president of the literary society at the University of Georgia in Athens. At the same time he was manager of the football team. Coach Wally Butts called him the nation's "All-America manager."

Then came the war. Maj. Gen. A. C. McAuliffe, who said "nuts" to the Nazis at Bastogne, told an Atlanta friend Cocke was "the best individual soldier I saw during the war."

Gen. McAuliffe's citation tells the story of Cocke's exploits during April 22-24, 1945.

Capt. Cocke set out with a corporal, a jeep and a carbine to contact a cut-off U. S. battalion near Beuren, Germany. First he ran into a column of 80 German soldiers, opened fire and "put the entire enemy column to flight" capturing three Nazis and liberating five French prisoners.

At Balzhof, he was pinned by machine-gun and small-arms fire and both he and the corporal were wounded and captured.

Cocke was lined up with 17 other U. S. prisoners and marched to Oberwillingen. Left with two guards, Cocke clubbed one guard while other GI's jumped the other. They escaped.

The little band marched up to the Burgomaster (mayor) and Cocke persuaded him the town was surrounded by the Allies and resistance was futile. Oberwillingen and two little nearby towns were surrendered to the ex-prisoners.

But Nazis Came Back

A Nazi artillery battalion, two rifle platoons and other German soldiers gave up their arms. Finally Cocke sent all but four of his men back to Allied lines—taking 592 prisoners with them, by official French count.

Then a Nazi panzer division rolled into Oberwillingen, and the odds were a little too great. Cocke and his tiny group opened fire but were captured again. Cocke was questioned by the same Nazis who had questioned him two days before, after his first capture.

"He didn't like my looks and I didn't like his," says Cocke. He swatted the Nazi in the jaw and German guards opened up on him at 20 feet with tommy guns.

The captain fell and was left on the spot, believed dead. Finally two old women hauled him to a hospital in a hand-pulled, wooden-wheeled cart.

A German doctor gave him the first of 17 operations that took him to 27 hospitals over 14 months. He was decorated with the French Croix de Guerre, the U. S. Silver Star, Purple Heart with three clusters and the bronze star with clusters.

After his recovery, Cocke received a master's degree in business administration from Harvard and became assistant general manager of the largest peanut butter manufacturing plant in the world, at the age of 25.

In 1948 he became general industrial agent for the Central of Georgia railway and recently became assistant to the president of Delta Airlines. He is a past commander of the Legion in Georgia.

Death Knell Sounded For Shaving Brush

NEW YORK —(P)—The shaving brush is on the way out according to results of a recent poll of examining boards governing such matters. Even in states where regulations do not forbid brushes in barber shops for sanitary reasons, the trend is toward electrically operated lather machines.

One manufacturer of a new, push-button shave lather, Carter Products, Inc., of New Brunswick, N. J., reports numerous requests from barbers for wholesale privileges even though their product is intended for the retail home market.

Marion PTA Discusses Improvements

New equipment for the Marion School was the main topic of discussion at the last meeting of the Marion PTA held last week at the school.

The PTA members discussed the acquiring of some new items for the lunchroom, a new bulletin board for the first and second grades and a new map stand for the third, fourth and fifth grades.

The purchase of a Lincoln Library was also discussed, but no action was taken.

Mrs. Wayne McArthur led the devotionals, while the meeting was in charge of the president, Mrs. George Trimmer.

Mrs. Harriett Myers' third, fourth and fifth grade pupils opened the meeting with a few songs. Mrs. R. C. Boyd gave a reading while Mrs. Wayne McArthur presented a monologue.

Announcement was made that the next meeting of the Marion PTA will be held April 5.

The program committee will consist of Mrs. Rolland West, Mrs.

Martin O'Cull, Mrs. Harry Wolfe and Mrs. Earl Allison.

Members of the social committee will be Mrs. Hugh Oberschlake, Mrs. Harold Smith, Mrs. Bessie McLain and Mrs. Bert Dean.

Refreshments of cookies, sandwiches and coffee were served to the members of the PTA at the last meeting.

Jorge Bolet Appears In Carnegie Hall

Jorge Bolet, pianist who appeared here with the Community Concert series Nov. 10, 1949, was guest soloist with the New York Philharmonic Symphony Saturday night in Carnegie Hall in New York City, according to a report by William Clift, president of the Community Concert Association here.

Clift said that several of the artists who have appeared here have won acclaim from audiences from coast to coast.

He said that the membership campaign for the 1951-52 series will be held during the week of April 23. Mrs. J. Rankin Paul is the general campaign chairman.

Jazz No Rage in Israel Harmonica Artist Says

TEL AVIV —(P)—"What surprises me most in this country is that nobody seems to care for jazz," Larry Adler, famed harmonica player, said here.

At the end of each concert here, which ranges from Bach to Stravinsky, Adler usually asks his audience what else they would like to hear. Jazz music, he says, is generally a favorite. But not in Israel.

People here, he said, ask for Mozart, Brahms, Schubert, Tschakovsky and for "Bab el Wad", a soldier's song from the Arab-Jewish War.

Our Moral Fibre Affected by Inflation

Regardless of the place where we live, whether it is in Washington C. H., Good Hope, Bloomingburg or Tulsa, Oklahoma, sooner or later each and every one of us must recognize that inflation has become a dangerous and destructive force.

There is no more certain way of wrecking our national economy, and our democracy, than by allowing the value of our dollar to continue to decline.

Your week's grocery bill, your new shoes, suit, or dress, or most any service that you have to hire, is undermining your ability to continue a normal way of life. And it is causing a moral decline in the country as well.

Crime and criminal practices, gambling on a far reaching scale, lack of integrity on the part of an alarming number of officials, and bribery of men in public life, is beginning to reflect a deadly undercurrent in our lives.

The family not fortunate in possessing wealth, seeking to live an economical but what had been regarded in the past as a typical way of life, is finding it extremely difficult today to make ends meet with a dollar worth slightly more than 50 cents. And all this at a time when propaganda from those living a soft life tells us that this is the most prosperous era America has ever known.

The men and women, who think, realize that this is not a sound or safe kind of prosperity, but the average man of small income feels helpless, so he joins with those who urge him to demand more money for what he does, and thus an extra push is given to the upward spiral.

There are some who give up what were once regarded as reasonably good jobs, to search for a method of obtaining "easy money". This adds to the decline of stability in modern life.

It already takes twice as many dollars as in 1940 to buy the average car. Food costs are up over 100%; clothing costs by about 95%; and rent costs by about 20%. Almost anything you can name has spiralled since Korea. The air force alone reports that the decline in the dollar has eaten out of its budget seven hundred and fifty jet fighters.

Management blames the decline of the dollar on wage raises. The wage earner blames management for price hiking in a seller's market. Both groups are at fault. But the real difficulty lies with the fact that the production of goods is not keeping up with the demand.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics reveals an average hourly pay rise in the manufacturing industries from a low of $1.00 in 1946 to $1.50 in 1950, or 50%. During the same time, the Bureau of Labor Statistics Consumer Index rose 36.9%. This meant an average hourly increase of around 10% in actual purchasing power of workers.

From 1946 to 1950, corporate profits rose, before taxes, from 23.6 billion to around 37 billion in 1950, or an approximately 57% increase. After paying taxes, however, 1946 corporate gains were $13.6 billion, and rose to 21.5 billion in 1950, and compare fairly well with the increase in wages and prices.

This is a good illustration of the law of supply and demand—action and reaction—which ultimately takes care of unbalances.

The desire of all of us for more play and less work is the real cause of our declining dollar. The Korean war simply brought our precarious economic status into sharper focus.

Food costs now are expected to stop after increasing another five percent, unless there is another "freeze".

Milwaukee man who said he had been living beyond his means is charged with stealing $87,000. Must have had meat almost every day.

What old-timers never will understand is how it is possible to pursue prosperity by quitting work.

Diët and Health Rheumatoid Arthritis Sufferers Get Help

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN
There is much hope for arthritis victims, particularly those with rheumatoid arthritis, in the better understanding of the disease brought about by recent discoveries of such drugs as ATCH and cortisone. These drugs belong to a class of substances known as steroids, or highly complex chemicals such as bile salts and sex hormones, which occur naturally in the body. The full story of the way in which the body uses steroids and the purposes they serve is still a matter for investigation, but apparently arthritis results from some lack of these materials.

the pregnenolone is stopped demonstrates that the pregnenolone is responsible for the relief of the arthritic symptoms. Once the condition has been improved with larger doses, the amount administered may be cut down. Relief From Pain In the patients treated, pain and muscle spasm were greatly diminished. Within a week, and sometimes within three or four days, there was relief from stiffness and pain, and great improvement in muscle strength, while the feeling of fatigue, so often marked in arthritic patients, was replaced by a general feeling of well-being. In most cases, the appetite was improved. Those who had anemia or lessening of the coloring in the blood also improved rapidly. Reduction in swelling of the joints came more slowly than did relief from other symptoms.

Quite recently, chemists have found a way to make a new steroid called pregnenolone, which has been tried in the treatment of a large number of arthritis patients. Given by Mouth Pregnenolone has certain advantages over other steroids which have been used for this purpose. In the first place, it can be given by mouth, eliminating the need for daily injections. In the second, it apparently has no bad side-effects even when given over long periods of time. This is of great importance since, with any steroid the symptoms of arthritis return as soon as its use is stopped.

In most cases, improvement in the symptoms begins within a short time after the pregnenolone is administered. However, in some instances improvement may be delayed for as long as three or four weeks. It is also important that it be administered in large enough doses. The fact that symptoms return when the use of

A Little Child Shall Lead Them

WASHINGTON, Mar. 5—(AP)—It startles you the first time you hear it. You're riding along in a bus or trolley, maybe reading your paper or looking out the window, not paying much attention to the thin radio music in the background. Then a voice speaks: "Every day, at 12 noon, we invite all of you to join with our station as we offer—each of us in his own way—a silent prayer for our men who are fighting overseas... a prayer for their divine protection and guidance. "So let us all now unite in silent prayer... and in the hope for eventual and everlasting peace. Will you bow your heads and join us?"

Some of the passengers do bow their heads. Others stare straight ahead. You wonder if they are praying or thinking. A few look embarrassed. Now and then someone produces a rosary. Conversation gives way to silence—the silence of prayer. From the loudspeaker, quiet organ music fills the silence. Then, in 20 seconds, the voice again: "We hope you will join with us tomorrow at the same time as we again offer our silent prayer... for the protection of our men who are fighting overseas... and for the fulfillment of our hope for lasting peace."

By Ed Creagh (Substituting for Hal Boyle)

It's all over now. There is a general clearing of throats, a mounting buzz of renewed conversation. But you leave your trolley or bus with a feeling that you've seen something new under the sun—a spiritual crack in the hard shell of a worldly and strife-ridden capital. A little girl from nearby Maryland started all this by writing a very short letter to President Truman: "My name is Linda Keller, 6811 Riggs Manor Drive. I'm 13 years old. "I think it would be nice if at 12 noon all radio programs and work stop and everyone pray for the boys overseas. God will surely protect us all." Well, Mr. Truman referred the letter to Rear Adm. S. W. Salisbury, chief of the armed services chaplains board. The admiral thought it was a fine idea and passed it along to radio stations in this area. Several of them started broadcasting noonday

Preparations Made for Hot War

Wickham Steed is one of the truly great figures in our profession. He is a British journalist of the old school who had served as the London Times correspondent in many parts of Europe, became its foreign editor and was afterwards its editor.

In a recent article in "The Contemporary Reviews," he has this to say: "The whole Communist conception of relations with the non-Communist world is one of 'cold' or 'hot' warfare. Meek answers to its hate-inspired vituperation do not turn away wrath: they induce contempt and are ascribed to fear... persistent failure to understand its true purpose might even hasten a change from 'cold' to 'hot' war in Europe. The preservation of peace does not lie that way. The Communist preparations for the 'peace conference', planned for Sheffield and held at Warsaw last November, are a case in point. They were designed as a prelude to 'hot' war in Korea.

"These preparations began at the Moscow 'peace Congress' in the autumn of 1949. Within a few weeks 'peace committees' sprang up in this country and elsewhere. In them the number of trained and trustworthy accomplices of the Kremlin was kept low as compared with 'fellow travellers' and dupes, while a worthy and, perhaps, unsuspecting president or chairman was recruited as a mask or a decoy.

Last January, in a university city, the chairman of one of these toastool bodies imprudently opened a public controversy which convinced me, and others, that something queer was afoot. Yet I confess I did not see what was afoot until North Korean aggression in the summer gave these 'peace committees' their opportunity to denounce the United Nations as 'imperialist warmongers'. The purpose of the 'peace' movement was thus revealed. It was to lessen resistance to Kremlinist strategy."

By George Sokolsky

as spend the remainder of their lives struggling and sacrificing for freedom. Once a business man explained Marxism to me as a movement for land distribution: he even believed that if land were equitably distributed, more people would be able to buy his product! Recently, in one of those rather intellectual discussions, I raised this point: suppose, in due course, the Russians manage to produce 100,000,000 tons of steel annually, would it prove that Communism is right? And I must say that that question rather stumped some, because to them Communism involves a struggle between private enterprise and nationalization of the ownership of production, distribution and exchange. If that is all that Communism means, then we need not get too excited about it because the trend in that direction is almost universal, including our own country. Wickham Steed answers that eloquently: "The liberal tradition...upholds the right of individuals to know, to think, to believe, to speak and to act within the framework of just laws freely made. Positively, it accepts differences as contributing to richer life than uniformity. Negatively, it repudiates the Hegelian concept of freedom as willing conformity to the dictates of an absolute state defied as 'God's movement on earth'."

More Money Spent Gambling Than for Clothes and Shoes

WASHINGTON, March 5—(P)—If organized gambling is taking in $20,000,000 a year in this country, the American people are putting more into bets than they are into clothing and shoes.

Furthermore, gambling outlays of that size are considerably larger than total retail expenditures for autos and parts plus gas and oil, or the aggregate prices of houses bought—and, indeed, nearly one-third as much as total retail spending on food and drink.

The Senate crime committee produced the whopping gambling figure in a report issued yesterday, but it didn't itemize or make clear just how it arrived at its estimate or what it was counting in the total.

"In all," the report said, "the committee figures, conservatively, that $20,000,000 changes hands every year in the United States as a result of organized, illegal gambling."

Double Count Doubt

Committee staff sources expressed doubt that the report was "double counting"—that is, counting money once when taken in on bets and counting it again when paid out to winners and taking care of operating expenses.

One staff member suggested that it was comparable to a merchant's sales or turnover—which would mean gross intake from the standpoint of a slot machine operator or horse race bookmaker, or total bet from the public's standpoint.

Staff members acknowledged the estimate necessarily had to be a "best guess," dealing as it did with cash transactions of a nature more to be concealed than revealed by precise record keeping.

Comparative Estimates

In anybody's language, $20,000,000 a year is big money. Here's how it stacks up with commerce department figures on other consumer outlays, which means total amounts spent on retail purchases:

Overall consumer spending—currently, a record of $195,800,000,000 a year.

Outlays on autos and parts—$12,800,000,000 a year; on gas and oil, $5,300,000,000.

Furniture and other household effects—$13,100,000,000.

Clothing and shoes—$19,400,000,000.

Tobacco—$4,500,000,000.

Food and drink, including liquor, beer, wine, etc.—$62,100,000,000.

A $20,000,000 a year gambling bill would dwarf the aggregate prices of all houses bought in a year which latest Federal Reserve Board data place at $11,200,000,000 in 1949.

Taxwise, it's big money, too. President Truman figures to get, out of individual income taxes at present levels, $21,599,000,000 for this fiscal year, $26,025,000,000 for next.

Naturally the gambling operators are going to contribute to those tax totals, too, although the Senate committee contends their tax payments are "many millions of dollars, perhaps running into hundreds of millions" less than they should be.

The committee made it plain it did not mean gambling operators are "clearing" as a profit all the money they take in, although it did say "a not inconsiderable portion" of the $20,000,000 "stays with promoters and operators."

Class Planned For Majorettes

Former Wave To Give Girls Instruction

A plan to build up a snappy corps of majorettes, who some day might parade as a part of the crack WHS marching band, today was unfolded by a young woman who has been twirling a baton and spicing up formations ever since she was in the fifth grade in school.

Mrs. Richard Kelley, who came to Washington C. H., from her native Duluth, Minn., nine months ago after serving three years in the Waves during the war, has found time now to get back into her hobby actively.

Mrs. Kelley said she was ready to start teaching a class of future majorettes now and continue it on through the summer.

Already she has been in touch with teachers in two of the city's five elementary schools and explained to them what she has in mind. She said she would contact other school authorities later. They will then pass the word along to the girls who want to take part in this extra school activity.

She also has discussed the proposition with William B. Clift, Jr., the bandmaster, who, she said, had given her encouragement and a few pointers on what is needed and a rough outline of his plans for the future.

Trial Class Held

As a short of trial, Mrs. Kelley had three pupils Saturday. But, she expects the class to grow when the word gets around. She has not placed any limit on the number of pupils.

Mrs. Kelley started twirling the baton and marching in formations while still in grade school and by the time she reached high school she was ready to take her place as a regular among the majorettes with Duluth's Denfeld High School band.

On the side, she said, she led many other parades—American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars, etc.—and put on special performances for a variety of programs. Even after she entered the Waves, Mrs. Kelley did not give up her marching and twirling; in fact, she said, the service gave her an opportunity to polish up on marching formations through the close order drills which are a part of the Wave training.

In the service, Mrs. Kelley was connected with the communications branch of the navy. Her assignments took her to naval bases at Great Lakes, New York, Washington, D. C. and Dayton.

It was while in the service that she met her husband, a pharmacist's mate first class. Out of the service, he entered on a career as a laboratory technician. His home was in Dayton.

Mrs. Kelley said she had taught baton twirling and marching for majorettes both before and after she entered the navy's Waves.

Her plans for classes here, she admitted, are still a little nebulous, but at least until school is out for the summer, she thinks the best time for them is from 9:30 to 11:30 A. M. on Saturdays.

Pakistan Refugees Finally Resettled

NEW DELHI —(P)—The vast job of resettling more than a half a million rural families who fled western Pakistan after the partition of this subcontinent has nearly been completed.

The rehabilitation ministry has announced that of 631,000 families who abandoned their farm homes in western Pakistan in 1947, all but 5,000 have been given land in India. In addition, 185,000 displaced families from eastern Pakistan have been resettled on farms in India. Ministry officials figure the number of people involved at about 4,000,000.

Many fossilized fish are found in western shale deposits which once were lake bottoms.

Contempt Charged Against Ohio Bell

COLUMBUS, March 5 —(P)—Six Ohio cities today accused the Ohio Bell Telephone Co. and the State Utilities Commission of contempt of court.

The action was filed in the state supreme court. It charges the company and the commission failed to comply with the court's mandate last July ordering into effect the commission's order fixing lower rates.

None of the commission members was available for comment. The cities—Cleveland, Akron, Toledo, Dayton, Canton and Columbus—charge the commission, on application of the company, granted the firm a stay of execution of the court's mandate. The stay was granted last Dec. 26.

Nearly a year ago the commission issued an order setting Ohio Bell rates. The company appealed to the court and last July 12 the court ordered modification of the commission order. The court found the company valuation on which the firm's rates are based included a duplication of items in depreciation and capital improvements funds.

Then, on Dec. 26, the commission set Ohio Bell's rate base at $253,861,027 and permitted a rate of return of 5.67 percent. The rate was designed to give the firm, the commission said, an annual profit of $14,393,920.

The commission later denied both the cities' and company appeals for rehearings and appeals were carried to the supreme court. The cities last week filed a motion with the court for dismissal of the company's appeal. The court will hear this motion March 15.

"I own the automobile," she said, "and things being what they are I thought perhaps someone would like to buy it."

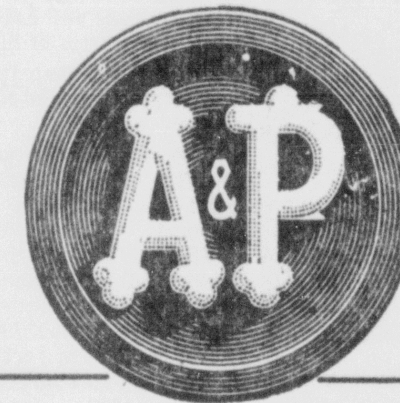

Madame Mathieu inherited the car from her father.

"It'll run all right," she explained. "All it needs is a little fixing up. There is something else I should warn you about," explained Madame Mathieu. "The driver sits in the rear. With the proper gasoline and care it should achieve up to five miles per hour."

Lions Beaten by Grandview And Go Out of Tournament

The Lion cagers of WHS today had hung up their rubber soled shoes and shorts for another season after being knocked out of the district tournament in the Coliseum in Columbus Saturday night by Grandview by a score of 62 to 43.

For seven of the squad, it was a farewell to high school basketball. Come next June, Ivan Blair, Ed Pensyl, Ted Shelton, Dave Sheidler, Norman Pope, Kenny Robinette and Fred Brandenburg will leave WHS with their diplomas.

The Lions had won their first two games in the tournament. They swamped Grove City in their opener and came back to stumble into a victory over Mt. Vernon to go into the quarter-finals against Grandview.

During the regular season, the WHS cagers broke even on their regular schedule and finished in the runner-up spot in the SCO League behind Greenfield's Tigers.

THE LIONS WENT down fighting, but the long lead the Grandview boys had taken in the first period was too much to overcome. Most of the few faithful fans who followed them to the tourney agreed after the game that the Lions played a good game with a never-say-die spirit, but the Grandview outfit was not only good but "hot" as well.

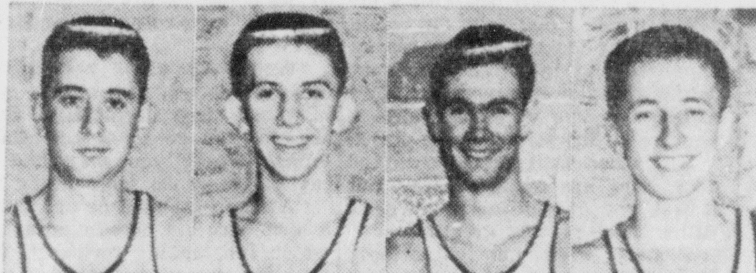

Grand was the pre-tourney second choice, right behind Columbus East. The Lions were distinctly the underdogs when they took the floor.

Once the Lions got over that first period "jitters," they gave the Grandview boys a run for their money right down to the finish. They scored only five points in the first period, and never were able to overcome such a handicap.

ONCE IN THE SECOND quarter the Lions came within four points of evening the score, after giving the Bobcats a 15 to 5 lead in the first frame. Again in the third frame the Lions charged to within two scant points of tying the game, but the Bobcats put on a drive that ended the threat.

After trailing 16 to 7 in the first minute of the second quarter, Bob Alkire drove down court and laid

WHS Basketball Ends for 7

Ivan Blair F. Brandenburg Ed Pensyl Norman Pope

The curtain was rung down on the high school basketball of seven senior Lions Saturday evening in the district tourney at Columbus.

They are among the boys who were able to put the Lion cage team in second place in the SCO league during the regular season play.

Ivan Blair, who wore number seven, held down a guard spot on the team. Fred Brandenburg wore number 3 and also held down a guard spot. Ed Pensyl, No. 10, played at both forward and center spots, but Dave Sheidler, 14, was the regular center for the club. Norman Pope, a speedy little guard, wore number 5, while Kenny Robinette, 13, used his favorite one-handed push shot to add to the team's scoring. Ted Shelton also used a jump push shot to help run up the score. He wore number 4 on his shirt.

Coach Harry Townsend will have a hard time finding boys who exhibited such team work and sportsmanship during the years they have played with the Lions of Washington C. H. High School.

In two points, Grandview committed a foul and Alkire rang up another point which started the Lions on their first serious bid for the lead.

Grandview got a bucket. The WHS boys then poured through six points in rapid succession. Ed Pensyl got one bucket on a pivot shot, Alkire faked in two points and Norman Pope got the ball on a fast break and tore down the boards for two, cutting the Bobcat lead 18 to 14. Alkire and Kenny Robinette each got to pay-dirt before the half ended. But Grandview chalked up eight more points to lead 26 to 18 at the intermission.

Grandview scored first in the third frame, but Robinette used his one-handed push shot to sink three buckets for the Lions before the "Cats" could recover.

Grandview then got two baskets to the Lions one before the Lions again broke lose to try for the lead. Ted Shelton took a long shot that went in and then took a stolen ball down court to lay in another two points. This made the score read 32 to 30, and was the closest the Lions could come to taking the game from the Bobcats. The quarter ended with the "Cats" leading 45 to 33.

IN THE FINAL eight minutes the Lions kept fighting, but the hard driving Grandview team added seven free shots and five baskets to their total while Dave Sheidler, Ivan Blair, Kenny Robinette and Jack Rettig were hitting the cords once each. Pope and Rettig each hit a free shot to round out the scoring for the Lions. Robinette came up with 12 points to lead the Lion attack, while Bobcat guard Ralph Guglielmi took the game honors with 28 counters.

New Holland Is Eliminated From Tourney

Basketball today was a thing of the past at New Holland after the Bulldogs were eliminated from the Class B sectional tourney at Westerville Saturday night by Caledonia in a nip and tuck game that wound up 53 to 51 in favor of Caledonia.

The Bulldogs took a 12-6 lead in the first period and held a 27-23 edge at the end of the half despite the fact that they got only four free tosses in the two periods. The New Hollanders kept ahead until there were only about two minutes left in the game. Then Caledonia tied the score at 41-all and went on to win.

The Bulldogs made good 11 of their 17 charity tosses. But the officials called them for 25 free throws for the Caledonia boys and then cashed in on 15 of them. Thus, the Bulldogs lost the game in the foul circle.

Four of the regulars finished their high school basketball with that game, but some good boys are coming on to take their places. Heisel, Hurtt, Pettit and Flack will be graduated in June.

lose a crucial game against the University of California at Los Angeles.

"Scroggins told me we were going to lose anyway, so we might as well lose by 12 points and make some money," Flower not a first stringer, told officers.

Just before game time, the entire Trojan team was told of the alleged bribe attempt. It apparently aroused the players, who fought furiously in a game marred by actual fistcuffs and won, 43-41, to gain a tie with UCLA for the southern division title of the Pacific Coast Conference. A play-off game is scheduled tonight.

Good Hope Cagers Out Of Sectional Tourney

Good Hope's Mad Anthonys met the six-foot-plus team from New Boston and went down to a 64 to 38 defeat Saturday evening in the sectional Class B Tourney at Waverly.

The Anthonys played a good floor game all the way and were able to set up their plays, but the tall boys from New Boston just reached out and blocked most of their shots.

Finding themselves unable to get in to the bucket, the Anthonys dropped back and concentrated on hitting the hoop from out in the court.

Darrell Henry, who is six feet even, got favorable comment for his rebounding efforts against the New Boston club.

New Boston held a seven point 26 to 19 lead at the halfway mark, but they came back in the second half to rack up 38 more points while holding the Anthonys to seven tallies.

Close guarding by the New Boston boys cost them the services of two of their players in the final quarter via the five foul route.

Royce Kellenberger sparked the Good Hope team with 12 points followed by Darrell Henry with seven. Gilliland, six foot three inches from New Boston coped the game scoring honors with 24 points.

Darrell Henry, Willard McConaughy and Jerry Dunn, three seniors, played their last game for the Mad Anthonys.

The official score book got lost somewhere in the shuffle during the week end. Coach Paul Baken-hern of the Anthonys said; thus, there is no box score for the final game.

While the Good Hope team did not go through the season undefeated, it did have a good record and took the Fayette County championship again for the second year in a row.

Cage Scandal Now Scented In California

LOS ANGELES, March 5—(P)—Authorities are trying to learn today whether the attempt to bribe a University of Southern California basketball player is connected with the eastern basketball scandal.

In jail in lieu of $50,000 bail is Albert Scroggins, 31, who identifies himself as a former paratrooper and jockey's agent.

He was arrested Saturday night after Ken Flower, 19-year-old forward on the Trojan team, told his coach, Forrest Twogood, that Scroggins offered him $1,500 to

CHAPTER TWENTY-FOUR
RICHARD found the kitchen empty. Jennet was helping Becky to make new nests for some setting hens; Rhoda and old Sarah were in the storage shed checking supplies. But in another moment Jennet came in. She wore her boy's attire, her hair was disheveled, a smudge of dirt streaked one cheek. She stood still just inside the door. Her lips made a sound but it was one of unpleasant surprise rather than sisterly greeting.

Richard eyed her witheringly from head to foot. "A fine appearance you make! And what does this mean—this tavern-keeper relative of yours writing that you are here when we left you properly settled in a respectable place?" "Uncle Quint wrote you!" The girl's hand caught at the door behind her but the little shock of what Richard had revealed did not break her defiance. "This is a respectable place, as much so as that other tavern. When Miss Southwaite fell ill and had to return home, it was most proper that I should come to my uncle."

"Huh! There must be a doctor somewhere around these backwoods! No, it was one of your high-handed tricks, I suspect. Well, I'm here to take you to Newark, tomorrow. You'll ride your own horse. Have ready what boxes George can pack on his saddle—the rest of your stuff can go later. At eleven, we cross—not a moment after eleven, for I have appointments in Fort Erie and along the way. And now go to your room or whatever privacy is yours in this place, and change. I've a gentleman friend with me and I don't want to be put to shame before him. I might as well tell you it is important you make a good impression on him. He's a most eligible young bachelor and our parent is planning to marry you to him."

"I am not going to Newark with you!" But Richard had swung back through the door. "You're Jennet, aren't you?" Jennet did not move. She said it again, aloud, as if Richard were still in the room. "I will not go..." When Quint returned from the yard Richard and his friend were still in the taproom. Several brandies had put Richard in a genial mood. He advanced on Quint with outstretched hand. "Ha, Uncle! We've been enjoying your hospitality without you here to dispense it! Meet my friend—Sir Kenneth Hitchcock, of Devon, England, and visiting in Newark."

Neither Quint nor the young Englishman moved to shake hands. Each merely nodded to the other. "You've seen Jennet?" Quint asked Richard. "For a moment—looking like a stableboy! I've sent her to make herself presentable. I regret she's put you to this trouble, Uncle. We'll pay for her lodging... By the way, speaking of lodging, can you put Sir Kenneth and me in the room?"

They say you can't keep a good man down... and it looks as though this could apply to inventors. Anyway, a British gadgeteer has developed a morale bracer... a little machine that fits in a pack on your back. It's button-controlled, and when you thumb the button the machine chirps like "jolly good show," "bravo, sir," and "well done." From time to time it gives the owner a pat on the back... and will even laugh at its owner's jokes. It's the greatest thing since vitamins were discovered. There's only one drawback. You may have the feeling the machine is not sincere.

March certainly came in like a lamb, and I hope it goes out the same way. Pretty soon we'll be drinking our sassafras or "yarb" tea. Both are well known remedies for anything from worms to bunions. I can still smell that little bag of asafetida which mom hung around my neck in the fall and was removed only when she could coax me to take a bath. In those days May 1 was a great occasion. I could remove my asafetida, go barefooted. When I had to put them back on, on Sunday morning to go to church it was awful. I always took them off the minute I got out of the church door and carried them home. Sounds like I'm reminiscing which is a sign of senility, they say.

NAPLES, Italy, March 5—(AP)—Charles (Lucky) Luciano, one-time New York vice overlord, invited the U. S. Senate crime proving committee today to make precise, formal charges that he is the czar of a secret underworld government in the United States.

Luciano, who has lived in Italy since his deportation from America, made his bid while talking to Naples reporters. Banned from living in Rome, he now makes his home in Naples. He came back here last night and he told reporters "there's nothing to" the Senate committee's accusations. He repeated this comment today, then added that the committee should make precise charges and extradite him for formal trial.

Why War in Korea?

States should oppose seating Red China in the United Nations nor why President Truman is spending money "uselessly and needlessly," as he put it.

Acheson wrote the elder Moullette a father-to-father letter, saying he was reminded of the discussions which he had ten years ago before his own son went to fight in the Pacific.

American young people, Acheson said, are undergoing an "agony of spirit" due to the existence in the world today as a "monstrous evil created by the rulers of Soviet Russia which makes it impossible for America's young men and women to realize the kind of lives they have been trained to lead.

But the task of this generation, young and old alike, Acheson said, is to "take up again the defense of freedom against the challenge of tyranny."

That is the general meaning that he sees in the Korean fighting, Acheson declared, and he added the specific belief that the United Nations struggle in Korea may prevent a third world war.

At Camp Pendleton, following release of the correspondence here, Corporal Moullette said he was persuaded by Acheson's letter to take a different attitude toward American foreign policy and he hoped that other people would be similarly convinced of the rightness of the policy.

"I think his letter will do a lot to clear things up in people's minds," he said.

Massacre Valley

massacre set up a new line and beat the Chinese back in hand-to-hand fighting.

But when the U. S. First Marine Division recaptured the valley Saturday the slaughter was evident -- a mile of burned and bullet-torn trucks, blasted field guns, piles of brass cartridges where guns were fired to the death. Hundreds of frozen bodies of Chinese, Koreans and Americans carpeted roads and valleys.

Today, after an army investigation, a staff officer told the first full story of the terrible retreat.

It is the account of an almost hopeless but fighting retreat of a small American force of about 2,400 cut off miles behind enemy lines and outnumbered at least 12 to one.

"It all started" the staff officer said "with the plan to let South Korean divisions lead the advance against the Reds on the central front supported by special American task forces of artillery with an infantry guard and with the main American line several miles behind."

After being left tied up at the farmhouse, the hostages worked themselves free of their bonds.

About 8 P. M. (EST), five hours after the break, the scape car got stuck in mud near Auburn, about 50 miles south of Omaha. For four hours the men and hostages waited at the farm until farmer Werner Eastman and his family returned.

Eastman and the hostages were bound up before the men drove away in Eastman's car.

After being left tied up at the farmhouse, the hostages worked themselves free of their bonds.

Victor Sweet, 24, of Hartington, Neb. They were being held on $10,000 bonds on charges of holding up an Omaha filling station Jan. 17.

Leaving the bus, the fugitives accosted Nate Distefano of Omaha, abducted him and took his car.

About two hours later, on the Gretna, Neb., farm of Otto Timm, about 20 miles southwest of Omaha, the car ran out of gas.

Four Fighters Arrested Here

Outgrowth of Brawl
Early Sunday Morning

A half score of arrests were made by the police over the weekend, several of them being for disorderly conduct by fighting.

Four men were arrested at Sons Grill, where they were engaged in a brawl, and complaint was made by the management.

Those against whom charges of disorderly conduct by fighting were filed were: Robert Lee Henkele, 23; John W. Yarger; Jack Greer, 22; and James W. Matson, 19, all from Washington C. H. and area.

The fight took place about 2 A. M. Sunday, and the four posted $50 bond each for their appearance in police court Monday.

George E. Phillips, 37, of Washington C. H., was taken into custody on a driving while drunk charge after his car had collided with an automobile owned by Robert C. Wilson, on North North Street at 11:45 P. M. Saturday.

A second charge was placed against Phillips, that of resisting arrest. Police said he struck at the arresting officer while in police headquarters, and the officer used his mace to subdue him.

Phillips was locked up and scheduled for hearings on both charges Monday before Police Court Justice Richard R. Willis.

Robert Earl Williamson, 35, Greenfield, posted $10 bond on a charge of running through a red light at Court and Fayette streets. Ivan Barney Lanning, Cleveland, was booked for making excessive noise on Columbus Avenue. He posted $25 bail. Lanning, a truck driver, is the first driver arrested for this offense for some time.

State highway patrolmen arrested Charles J. Shepleman, South Solon, on a charge of permitting an unlicensed minor to drive his car. He posted $25 bond. Shepleman was arrested in the outskirts of Washington C. H. at 8:25 P. M. Saturday.

Mobilization Slowed

The United Labor Policy Committee (ULPC) today.

The ULPC readied new criticism of price controls and other vital policies more likely to expand than to narrow the break with President Truman's defense program, at a meeting set this morning for 10 A. M. EST.

Nevertheless, the weekly CIO news said over the weekend: "The crisis need not be extended."

"It can be settled by some long-needed changes in policy and outlook in Congress and in the defense agencies," the news said. "In other words, it's time the American people -- rather than some special profit interest -- got a little consideration."

The ULPC, accusing mobilization Director Charles E. Wilson of allowing "big business" to run the program, withdrew all connections with the defense set-up last Wednesday. Formal resignations were to be augmented with letters explaining the committee's action.

The session was to "consider further steps" following the walk-out of all ULPC representatives in the AFL, CIO and non-operating railroad union fields from participation in the mobilization effort.

Price Control Woes

Headaches piled up on the price control front, meanwhile, from other quarters. The government's action Saturday night in fixing ceiling prices on raw cotton at the farm level stirred up angry protests from the industry and from many cotton belt lawmakers. Senator Maybank (D-SC), chairman of the Senate banking committee, promised a fight in Congress to annul the order.

On prices, Economic Stabilizer Eric Johnston promised the government will "make every effort to achieve rollbacks in prices where practicable and justifiable."

He made that pledge in a letter to Senator Lodge (R-Mass),

Trio Arrested For Burglary

Residence in Marion
Township Rifled

Three Ross countians, held in the Pickaway County Jail, will be brought here Monday afternoon to face breaking and entering charges filed against them here.

The three, wanted for breaking into the home of W. C. (Dode) Williams, residing on the Miller Road in Marion Township, are: Frederick Rutherford, 18; Harry J. Speakman, 25, and his brother Pearl Speakman, 17, all of near Chillicothe.

The three were arrested by Sheriff Charles Radcliff, near Atlanta Sunday. They are suspected of stealing an auto tire.

In their car, which had broken down, the Pickaway sheriff found an electric fan, two or three tires, some shirts and food, the latter having been stolen from the Williams home.

Communicating with Sheriff Hays Sunday night, Radcliff offered to turn the trio over for prosecution here, and the offer was accepted.

Sheriff Orland Hays investigated the burglary, in which entrance had been gained by breaking a window. Many shirts and much food were stolen. Sheriff Hays went after the trio early Monday afternoon.

ed north from Yongdu ran into Red fire from both sides of the road. After a fight with the Reds it returned to the Allied lines.

On the extreme right of the central front, U. S. seventh division troops jumped ahead two and one half miles -- the day's best gain on the front -- to within 500 yards of Changpyang. Changpyang controls the highway from the east coast town of Kangnung, where South Korean troops are operating.

Planes Join Slaughter

Fighter-bomber pilots of the U. S. fifth air force reported they inflicted more than 750 casualties in attacks on Red troop concentrations along the Korean front and behind Red lines Monday.

In improved flying weather, the air force flew 670 sorties Monday, 236 in close support of Allied ground troops.

American marines continued their drive among precipitous peaks toward Hongchon, a key road town believed to be Communist central front headquarters.

Chinese and North Korean Reds fought stubbornly to stem the grinding Allied northward drive while they built up on the central and western fronts for a possible 300,000-man counterassault on the Allies.

In the middle sector, the U. S. first marine division pressed northward through a narrow mountain canyon north of Saemal, vital road junction five miles north of shattered Hoengsong.

The marine advance was slow and bitter among steep-sided peaks where Red riflemen and mortars lurked behind craggy defenses. It was aimed at the important road hub of Hongchon, nine miles north of Saemal, believed to be the main build-up point of Red troops on the central front.

Frozen Allied bodies littered the area. They were the victims of a Chinese trap in February. An estimated 2,000 or more Americans were killed.

Autos in Collision On Road Near Here

Two automobiles were badly damaged about 5 P. M. Sunday, at the intersection of the Jamison Road with the Jamestown Road, a mile northwest of Washington C. H., as a result of a collision.

Kermit Jewell of Washington C. H., was headed northwest on the Jamestown Road and attempted a make a left turn into the Jamison Road as George Hartley of Miamisburg, was in the act of passing.

The Hartley car swung to the left in an attempt to avoid the collision, and the cars struck in the entrance of the Jamison Road. The Jewell car plunged through a fence into a field. No one was injured.

State Highway Patrolmen M. E. Brinkles and John Wyatt investigated the wreck.

Carroll Halliday Low Bidder with Vehicle

The Carroll Halliday, Inc., 135 North Fayette Street, was the low bidder for providing a station wagon for use at the Mt. Logan Tuberculosis Sanatorium.

The new station wagon was delivered late last Friday to the institution. It will be used for such things as hauling nurses to and from Chillicothe and food supplies of various types. Halliday was lowest bidder in six counties. The name of the institution will be stenciled in paint on either side of the station wagon.

Hobby Club Meeting Friday at 6:30 P. M.

F. Scott Zimmerman, president of the Fayette County Hobby Club, Monday announced the next meeting for Friday at 6:30 P. M. at the City Building.

A covered dish dinner will precede the business meeting, exhibition of unusual articles, and sale and exchange of things.

Driver Leads Patrol On 100 MPH Chase

State highway patrolmen were forced to travel at 100 miles an hour at one time to overhual a speeding automobile on the CCC Highway, Saturday afternoon.

The man driving the car was Robert Tischbein, Cincinnati, whom the officers saw flash by them near Mt. Sterling. The chase ended at Grove City.

Tischbein was taken back to Mt. Sterling and fined $20 and costs in Mayor Harry Junk's court, which he paid.

It was while going down the Harrisburg hill that the patrol car registered over 100 miles per hour.

At that time the fleeing car was more than a mile ahead.

Man Knocked Down But Not Injured

Hobart Cooper, East Point Street, was struck by an automobile driven by Clifford Smith of Washington C. H. at the intersection of Main and Court Streets Saturday at 7:50 P. M.

Cooper was hit by the car bumper, but was not injured severely. Police investigated. No charges were filed.

Two Alarms Answered By Fire Department

Firemen answered two alarms Sunday and early Monday, but found no fire when they arrived.

The first alarm was at 4:40 P. M. Sunday, when an automobile owned by Don Scholl developed a short circuit while near the Union Station. The fire had been extinguished before the firemen could reach the car.

At 9:40 A. M. Monday a short circuit at the David Hillery home, 703 Broadway, caused some smoke but no fire.

Burton Gets Jail Sentence

Thomas W. Burton, 41, of Washington C. H., arrested with a 16-year-old Frankfort girl following a hit-skip crash in Clarksburg Tuesday night, was fined and sentenced to 90 days in the Ross County jail.

Sentence was passed by the Chillicothe Municipal Court Saturday, with Judge E. A. Moats on the bench.

Burton's operator's license was suspended for 90 days. He drew $100 and costs for leaving the scene of an accident and $35 and costs for permitting an unlicensed person to drive his car.

Burton is facing forgery charges, filed before Justice of the Peace P. S. Ludwick here. He has also been made defendant in a divorce action here.

The man was arrested at his home in Washington C. H. last week and turned over to the authorities in Chillicothe following a hit-run accident. Patrolman said the girl with him was a young married woman from Frankfort, who was driving when the accident occurred.

She was turned over to the juvenile court authorities.

Burton on top of all of his other troubles, will be turned in as a parole violator, officials said.
